PONY camp has been keeping many young riders busy during the holidays.

Golden Valley Hunt Pony Club's five-day camp was held at Upper Wall End Farm, Monkland earlier this month and saw 24 young people taking part in a variety of activities, flat work, showjumping, stable management and Horse and pony care. Senior members also took part in the Area Showjumping competition in Welshpool, where the novice team was placed sixth. Kate Mills, in the Individual Intermediate Competition came fourth and qualified for National Pony Club Championships in Derbyshire.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE OF ADVERTISEMENTS FOR THE NEWSQUEST MEDIA GROUP

GENERAL The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

2. The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser, to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.

3. The advertiser further confirms that: i) the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libellous of any person; ii) all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise); iii) in respect of any investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, an authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act, 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

4. All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.

5. By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.

6. We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

7. We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

8. We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us (the "copy deadline").

9. An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.

10. We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

11. Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

A life on the hoof

FARRIER Arlo Stephens has been looking after horses' feet for 12 years and in that time he has learned quite a thing or two about his four-legged clients and the kind of world in which they live.

Working with horses means knowing more than how to trim and shoe, it's looking after the overall health of their feet, which often involves corrective work and remedial treatment.

However, studying the trade is one thing, it's quite another putting it into practice.

Before dealing with any horse, farriers need to understand the equine social world of which they're a part, have respect for their clients and be fairly well in control – you can't push half a ton of horse around very easily and when they push you it hurts.

Arlo, aged 37, is based just over the Herefordshire border but visits yards not only across this county but in Worcestershire and Gloucestershire and regularly finds himself looking up at the lofty heights of a shire or handling a diminutive shetland.

Most horses are well mannered and don't mind being shod but there's a fair number of stropy ones that like to make a fuss, including those who have a real phobia about farriers.

BY ANNE GLOVER

Another consideration is that all horses have a flight instinct, which means that when a foot is held they have to be able to trust someone who is, in effect, blocking their way of escape in the event of any danger.

The farrier's job takes physical strength, stamina, a good grasp of the craft, a genuine and thorough knowledge of horses and, according to Arlo, a natural affinity with the animal. "I really enjoy being a farrier and I think it's because I just love being with horses," he suggests.

"I find them fascinating and I don't think you ever stop learning about them and their instinctive behaviour."

Most caring horse owners value the advice of a good farrier because they know he – or she – will only have the interest of their animal at heart.

Arlo says that owners will often bring a foot problem to the farrier first before calling out the vet.

"Quite often if a horse is performing badly it's because there is a problem with the foot but most farriers will check the way a horse moves too to see that there's no injury elsewhere," he explains.

"Farriers naturally check the horse's leg, foot and hoof."

His work involves cutting away any excess hoof growth and ensuring that the horse is balanced.

Arlo will often make his own shoes on site to perfectly fit the animal's foot.

While training for his job, Arlo was apprenticed to world champion, Andy Martin, who, he says, taught him about being a farrier and much more.

"I was really fortunate to be taught by someone whose whole life was horses and who wanted everyone to be as good as he is," he says.

"Also, I think because my grandmother kept horses and I was brought up with them and had them around me all my life, I learned to deal with them intuitively so I just know when things aren't right."

Learning to be a farrier is something that doesn't end with the apprenticeship.

It means being alert to the attitudes and behaviour of an animal who may be feeling pain or discomfort but can't tell you.

To contact Arlo, telephone: 07796406521.

Busy year continues

MONNINGTON Morgans, the largest Morgan and Saddlebred farm in Europe is having another busy year.

Head trainer Lionel Ferreira has just flown to USA with Mighty Spirit, a four-year-old Saddlebred gelding who was South African Harness Champion last year, and Illegal Motion, a four-year-old Morgan gelding.

Mighty Spirit is heading for the second largest Saddlebred show in USA, in Kansas City, to enter the open Fine Harness Class, and find a buyer.

Illegal Motion will show at the Morgan Grand National, and World Championships in Oklahoma and is expected to find a US buyer.

Angela Conner Bulmer plans to show her mare, Versace, in Oklahoma and repeat last year's World Championship success.

A dream come true

FOR little Charlotte McDowall of High Leaden, Newent, clinching the supreme championship at the British Pony Horse Club Show Wales was, quite literally, a dream come true – she had to be woken up to join the class.

Charlotte, aged six, who was with her parents Nick and Sue McDowall at the British Show Pony Show (BSPS) Championship Show Wales, in Built Wells earlier this month, won the top class on her pony, seven-year-old Welsh part bred Treowen Black Orchard (Ettie).

The 11.2 pony was up against nearly 600 ponies and horses with entries from breeders and professionals.

According to BSPS Wales chairman, Janet Rollands, Ettie was also one of the first home-produced ponies to win the class for a long time.

As mum Sue prepares Charlotte for the much anticipated show, due to take place in October, the win is a great reward for all the effort the pair has put in since buying Ettie three years ago.

It has been hard work but I was just amazed that we got as far as we did," said Sue.

"It was enough just to win our class and it's great for ordinary people who are doing this as a hobby and who are up against top breeders. "It's all your dreams coming together on one day,"
